AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

THE BOSSES POCH-POOR THE IDEA. The report that Governor Flower might appoint a special District-Attorney to look into the municipal maladministration of Brooklyn created much interest yesterday. It was felt that this would result in revelations beside which the Columbian expenditures. which the Governor refused to legalize, would ap-pear insignificant, and that frauds of magnitude might be laid bare. But an air of bravado was worn by the Democratic leaders and officials, and they pro-fessed to pooh-pooh the idea. The fact that District Attorney Ridgway has gone on a three months' pleasure trip to California whe., the indictments in relation to the Columbian business are pending has received unfavorable comment, but it was whispered that he feared that the Governor might remove him if the indictments should full, and withdrew to a

NEWS FROM NEW-JERSEY.

Samuel C. Lowndes, the treasurer of Janes Motho-dist Episcopal Church, Jersey City Heights, has been convicted of sowing dissension in the church by fomenting quarrels and then giving out the stories for publication. Under the rules of the Methodist Church Mr. Lowndes is expelled. He will appeal, however. The trial lasted two weeks, but was con-ducted behind closed doors, the twelve jurymen and all the officers of the court and their wives being sworn to secrecy. There were forty or fifty witness examined, but the only part of the testimony inade public is that the Rev. Dr. R. Lowrie, the presiding elder, testified that he had never promised Mr. Lowndes as that man had asserted, that the Rev. William H. Russell should not be sent to preside over the church; and that the statement that had been circulated that "while Mr. Russell was at Union Hill he was guilty of conduct unfit for publication" was disproved. The charges also include lying, ballot-box stuffing at a church election, ignoring the pastor, anonymous accusations and withholding $25 until compelled to appropriate it to the purpose for which it was given to the church. The verdict is under-stood to cover all these counts, but the members would not say positively whether it did or not.
